Study Of Aid Requests Shows Americans Probably Will Pay Whole Bill

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—The United States moved today to alleviate European desperate plight by announcing plans for preliminary distribution of 330 million dollars from the German "gold pot" not later than Oct. 15.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Moves to pare down the proposed twenty-two billion dollar Marshall plan took shape in the senate today as the possibility arose that the United States will be asked to invest more than twenty-five billion during the next four years.

There were these developments:

1. Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich. declared total European needs can be slashed. He called for direct loans to private individuals and corporations, rather than to governments, as the best way to curb socialism. He proposed that the export-import bank be expanded to handle the program.
2. Sen. McClellan (D) Ark., predicted that congress will not approve a plan involving more than two to three billion dollars a year of American money.
3. Sen. Wilson (R) Iowa, demanded that nations to receive aid be required first to revise labor and tax legislation to make sure that their people will work as hard and be taxed in the same proportion as their American benefactors.

MEANWHILE, careful perusal of the Paris report on European needs under the Marshall plan convinced Washington officials that the United States will be requested to

5,300 FRESHMEN GET ACQUAINTED AT OHIO STATE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Approximately 5,300 freshmen and new students at Ohio State University started their orientation week today.

Several days of tests and meetings were on the schedule for the newcomers before starting their classes next Tuesday.

Registration of full and part-time students was expected to reach close to 25,000 at the opening of the Fall term.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

No woman who has bought butter recently will be impressed by the price of European recovery.

Fifteen billion is regarded as a reasonable outlay for anything today—even when you don't get delivery.

There may be some doubt as to where the money will come from but the plan is crystal clear as to where it will go.

Still we should be able to swing it unless the people of Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi get the idea in their heads that they're as much entitled to rehabilitation aid as Europe.

I hear the President is undecided whether to call a special session of congress or take another trip.

There's no question about it that things are getting worse every day. Now all the standing room for the series has been sold out.

U. S. Strongly Protests Yugoslav Pressure On Trieste Border Line

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—The United States has strongly protested to Yugoslavia over that nation's "irresponsible" pressure seeking changes in the Trieste border line.

The state department said today that the United States objected to "irresponsible Yugoslav actions in presenting ultimatums to local allied military alterations" of the existing Trieste borders.

U. S. Ambassador Cavenish Cannon requested the Belgrade government "to issue immediate instructions to end this practice, which the United States government considers exceedingly dangerous and likely to precipitate incidents leading to most serious consequences."

THE STATE department announcement said:

"Ambassador Cannon expressed the United States view that matters in dispute between local military posts must be resolved through normal civilized procedures and requested that they be issued immediately to insure that such additional matters of local dispute as may arise will hereafter be referred to the appropriate Yugoslav commander for resolution through discussion."

TRENT TAKEN TO LIMA HOSPITAL

Farmhand, Adjudged Insane, Removed From Jail To Institution

Adjudged insane, Irvin E. Trent, 22, Negro farmhand indicted for first degree murder in the slaying of his 23-year-old wife, Ruby, was removed Tuesday afternoon from the Pickaway county jail to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Carl Radcliff.

Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff committed Trent to the Lima institution on the basis of an examination and report made to the court by officials of the Columbus State Hospital to which Judge Radcliff had committed Trent for examination. Dr. J. F. Bateman, superintendent of the Columbus institution, and Dr. Nicholas Michael, psychiatrist, reported Trent suffered from dementia praecox.

TRENT ENTERED a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity when he was arraigned in court July 17.

The slaying was committed July 2 in the Trent farm tenant home two miles south of the village of Derby. When fire destroyed the dwelling on that date firemen removed the charred body of Mrs. Trent. Trent was subsequently taken into custody for questioning. Sheriff Radcliff (Continued on Page Two)

SUSPECT HELD BY POLICE IN TORTURE - THEFT

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Columbus police were expected to take a 44-year-old suspect to Shaker Heights today for grilling in the torture-robbery of Henry Green after they had finished questioning him.

Green, who is vice president of the Beulah Park Jockey club, and his wife were tortured and robbed by three men of $15,000 about three weeks ago in their Shaker Heights home.

The suspect was arrested by Washington C. H. and Columbus police and brought to Columbus for questioning. Green was expected to look him over today in an attempt to identify him.

"He emphasized that General Airey has been instructed to maintain the established provisional line which must be recognized as the de facto boundary between the British-United States zone of free territory of Trieste and Yugoslavia until definite delineation has been undertaken in accord with terms of the Italian treaty."

STAKE SOUGHT FOR 'COWBOY'

Roy Vincent Reported To Be In 'Good' Condition At Hospital

Condition of Roy Vincent, 38, who suffered probable left hip fracture and numerous cuts and bruises when the horse he was riding on U. S. Route 23 near South Bloomfield was struck by an auto early Monday night, was reported "good" Wednesday at Berger hospital.

The five-year-old horse, "Silver," died Tuesday morning in a field near the highway. Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff said the motorist was Glenn Gouldner, 24, Lockbourne, who declared he was blinded by auto headlights and did not see the horse and rider.

A PUBLIC subscription fund was started Tuesday at Newark to pay Vincent's hospital bill and to buy him another horse. Spokesmen for the Licking County Soil Conservation District organization, which launched the fund drive, said Vincent will also be given a "grub-stake" Oct. 2 at the "Opening of the Second Frontier" celebration at Newark. Hospital attaches said Wednesday that X-rays show— (Continued on Page Two)

STATE LAWYERS IN DITHER OVER STRIP MINE LAW

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Discrepancies in the state's brand-new strip mine control act which goes on the law books officially next Monday had the lawyers of the attorney general's office scratching their heads today.

The bill was rushed through to passage at Governor Herbert's insistence during the closing days of the legislature in June. In the haste of last-minute changes, the bond required per acre for strip mining of coal was reduced from $200 to $100 in one instance but left at $200 in a later section.

One opinion already has been written and discarded in an attempt to compromise the differences. The full office court of Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins now is considering the problem. Fortunately, although the act becomes law next Monday, it does not go into effect until January 1 because of a delay clause in the act itself. Thus time remains to work out a solution—if one can be found.

MORE FORD EMPLOYES MAY BE INVOLVED IN RACKET

DETROIT, Sept. 24—A high union official said today that additional firings may be expected in the alleged $300,000-a-month numbers racket flourishing at the Ford River Rouge plant, Detroit.

Nineteen persons, including three foremen, already have been discharged and 18 other workers have been suspended for periods ranging from three to 90 days.

NEW OBSTACLES DELAYING LAKE UN General Assembly Approves U. S. Proposals

Sewage Problem Reported To Have Held Up Work At Site

Although the state legislature in June appropriated $150,000 to finance the building of the Memorial Lake Park, northeast of Circleville, the project Wednesday faced obstacles.

It was disclosed at Columbus that tentative plans to begin the three-year construction job this Autumn have been temporarily held up.

Officials of the Ohio Division of Conservation and Natural Resources revealed that Thomas Gallagher, a pollution engineer for that division, recently made an inspection of the "Devil's Backbone" area—the site for the projected lake and park, and that Mr. Gallagher has reported that sewage from both the Pickaway County Children's Home and the County Home now flows into tributaries of Hargus creek and that this condition would make both swimming and fishing in the proposed lake next to impossible.

THE REPORT cited that the two institutions are situated in the Hargus creek watershed and that both dump sewage into streams which feed that creek. For this reason, the report continues, state conservation and state health officials have frowned on the projected creation of a lake which they claim would inevitably be polluted by sewage.

It was stated at Columbus that Fred Waring, sanitary engineer for the state health department— (Continued on Page Two)

SEVERE STORM CALMS DOWN IN COAST REGION

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 24—The Caribbean storm that raced over north Florida and skirted along the Atlantic coast last night lost its severe force today as it moved into the Carolinas near Charleston.

The weather bureau said top winds were 35 to 45 miles an hour in gusts and that the storm's intensity had dwindled, giving way to a wave of cool air. Storm warnings were lowered south of Cape Hatteras, N. C., to Brunswick, Ga., but small craft warnings remained displayed in that area.

BROADCAST BLOCKED

VIENNA, Sept. 24—Soviet authorities in Vienna refused today to permit Austrian foreign minister Dr. Karl Gruber to broadcast over radio Vienna with a report on the Paris Marshall plan conference.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 24—The UN general assembly, after approving all United States-backed questions for its agenda at its Flushing Meadows plenary session, today transfers its activities to main committee meetings at Lake Success.

High on the agenda of the important 55 nation political and security committee, which meets this afternoon, is the Greek dispute. The assembly by a vote of 38 to 6 yesterday overrode Soviet objections to admitting the question for discussion.

By equally decisive votes it decided to keep the questions of the Italian peace treaty and Korean independence on the docket. The Soviets made no attempt yesterday to block inclusion on the list.

'IKE' DISCLAIMS AMBITION FOR POLITICS 'NOW'

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 24—The political aspirations, if any, of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower were as much in doubt as ever today, following an address at the University of West Virginia in Morgantown.

The general, who has been mentioned frequently as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1948, made no mention of politics in his address yesterday before 20,000 persons in the university's football stadium. Earlier, at a news conference, he said:

"As of right now, I do not want any political job." The general, recently appointed president of Columbia University, retires to civilian life next year.

An honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him prior to his speech yesterday. He told the assemblage that a contest between two government concepts has divided the post-war world into two separate camps, and warned that third world war might be fatal to civilization.

SENATOR WALCUTT NAMES COMMITTEE ON LIBRARIES

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—An 11-member subcommittee on libraries was named today by State Sen. Roscoe Walcutt (R-Columbus) chairman of the Ohio postwar program commission.

Walcutt's announced purpose in naming the sub-committee was "to complete the unfinished work of the Ohio library survey commission which went out of existence January 1."

Sen. Carl Sheppard (R-Akron) was named chairman of the sub-committee; State Librarian Walter Brahm vice-chairman, and Joseph C. Neer, Urbana, secretary.

of the American proposal for an interim "watchdog" assembly.

THE GREEK case now is third on the political committee's agenda following the uncontested admission of Yemen and Pakistan as UN members. But it may not be taken up in order.

The magnitude of the issues involved and the bitterness of disagreement on some of the major questions between the Soviet bloc on the one hand and the western camp led by the U. S. on the other may prolong the sessions of the eight committees for two months.

U. N. officials assert, however, that plenaries will be summoned at the discretion of President Oswaldo Aranha from time to time at Flushing Meadows. A demand by one of the Big Five leaders for a special pronouncement to the thousand delegates would justify such extra meetings, a procedure which leaves the way open for the reported arrival at the U. N. next month of Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov.

The eight days of acrid pronouncements at Flushing Meadows by many of the delegates left little hope that the Lake Success committee work will be smooth, particularly since the chief protagonists—U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky along with Andrei Gromyko—intend to lead the battle in the key committees.

HUNGARY NAMES COMMUNIST TO MINISTER POST

BUDAPEST, Sept. 24—The Communist party strengthened its control in Hungary today by naming a Communist to the post of foreign minister in a reorganized cabinet.

It also retained its grip on the key ministry of the interior. Lajos Dinnyes, small landholder party member, was kept as premier. Communist leader Matyas Rakosi, the real power in Hungary's leftist regime, was named foreign minister.

Arpad Szakasits, Socialist, returns to the second vice-premiership he held previously.

Five communists received ministerial posts in the government which also includes four smallholders, four socialists and two national peasant party members.

'HECTIC' OHIO SUMMER PASSES

Cooler Weather Scheduled Thursday Following Scattered Showers

By International News Service Ohio's Summer of 1947 went into the records today as "hectic" one so far as the weather was concerned and particularly as conditions affected crops.

Forecaster Milton Davis prepared the following summary highlighting the unusual aspects of the period: "From March to the middle of June there were record-shattering rainfalls, totaling to 25 inches or more. Spring planting was delayed upwards of two weeks and the rain prevented adequate spraying of fruits and plants.

"Abnormal rainfall and sub-normal temperatures prevailed through July, delaying crop growth.

FIGHTER PILOT KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 24—A P-51 fighter pilot was killed last night near Osterander when his Mustang crashed into a barn.

The flyer, David D. Sullivan, 26, Columbus, was an Ohio National Guard lieutenant and had taken off from Lockbourne Army Air base where his plane was based.

Thomas Watkins, on whose farm Sullivan crashed, said the plane was apparently in trouble when he first saw it. He reported it went into a spin, struck the ground and bounced off the barn into a field 50 yards away.

Sullivan's body was found in the wreckage, but the canopy of his ship, which came in from the East, was discovered about a quarter of a mile east of the spot where the plane hit, indicating the pilot had made a futile attempt to bail out.

The flyer, who is survived by his widow and infant daughter, was a student at Ohio State University.

MASSACRE OF REFUGEES PROBED IN PAKISTAN

LAHORE, Sept. 24—The reported massacre of several thousand Indians aboard a refugee train near Amritsar was investigated by a special meeting of Pakistan's west Punjab cabinet today.

Only 100 of the refugees escaped in what was believed to have been the worst massacre yet reported since division of India.

SPECIAL CALL ISSUED AIDES BY PRESIDENT

Senator Kilgore Attacks 'Crap Game' In Grain Futures At Chicago

BULLETIN

SEATTLE, Sept. 24 — Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, revealed today that President Truman has asked congressional leaders to confer with him in Washington next Monday on the "food question."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — President Truman today summoned his cabinet into a special session this afternoon for discussion of the European famine threat and the record high costs of living in the United States.

The White House announced that the special cabinet meeting will deal with "food and food matters."

Shortly after the cabinet session was announced, Sen. Kilgore (D) W. Va., conferred with the President and on leaving the White House quoted Mr. Truman as saying he is "doing his darnest" to curb high prices.

Kilgore conferred with the President in connection with grain speculation, which the senator asserted was an important contributing factor in the inflationary spiral.

THE PRESIDENT is believed to have shaped his policy on the method through which the United States can increase aid to hungry nations abroad and is expected to present his recommendations to the cabinet for its approval.

White House sources indicated that Mr. Truman within the next 48 hours will urge the nation to adopt a voluntary rationing program in order to provide surpluses to be diverted to Europe. Cabinet meetings usually are held on Friday morning. Urgency of the food problem resulted in the chief executive's decision to call the special meeting.

Observers believed that the President would announce his course of action on the food situation at his weekly news conference tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. (EST).

ALTHOUGH this afternoon's conference is the first formal meeting of the cabinet since Mr. Truman's return from Brazil, he held a long luncheon discussion with all of the cabinet members except Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach on Monday.

The question of a special session of congress was not expected to come up at the cabinet meeting.

The President is studying, in that connection, a detailed report on the international situation, presented to him Monday by Secretary of State Marshall and Under Secretary Lovett.

GOV. HERBERT REQUESTS ROAD, SCHOOL STUDIES

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Gov. Herbert requested the state postwar program commission today to make studies and recommendations regarding the state highway system, schools for deaf and blind children and the "outmoded and antiquated" state building code.

Herbert pointed out that the last legislature did not establish commissions to make these important studies and requested the establishment of program commission sub-committees to do so.

A previous general assembly created a commission to acquire new sites for state schools for blind and deaf, but the appropriation provided was insufficient because of rising building costs. The last assembly, Herbert said, made no appropriation for this purpose.

COOLER WEATHER SCHEDULED THURSDAY FOLLOWING SCATTERED SHOWERS

By International News Service
Ohio's Summer of 1947 went into the records today as "hectic" one so far as the weather was concerned and particularly as conditions affected crops.

Forecaster Milton Davis prepared the following summary highlighting the unusual aspects of the period:

"From March to the middle of June there were record-shattering rainfalls, totaling to 25 inches or more. Spring planting was delayed upwards of two weeks and the rain prevented adequate spraying of fruits and plants.

"Abnormal rainfall and subnormal temperatures prevailed through July, delaying crop growth.

"August and early September were unusually hot and dry, but (Continued on Page Two)

FIGHTER PILOT KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 24—A P-51 fighter pilot was killed last night near Ostrander when his Mustang crashed into a barn.

The flyer, David D. Sullivan, 26, Columbus, was an Ohio National Guard lieutenant and had taken off from Lockbourne Army Air base where his plane was based.

Thomas Watkins, on whose farm Sullivan crashed, said the plane was apparently in trouble when he first saw it. He reported it went into a spin, struck the ground and bounced off the barn into a field 50 yards away.

Sullivan's body was found in the wreckage, but the canopy of his ship, which came in from the East, was discovered about a quarter of a mile east of the spot where the plane hit, indicating the pilot had made a futile attempt to bail out.

The flyer, who is survived by his widow and infant daughter, was a student at Ohio State University.

spend more than twenty-five billion dollars.

This compares with an overall total of twenty-two billion 440 million dollars set down in the official Paris summary as rock-bottom to avert catastrophe and spread of Communism in western Europe. The United States was earmarked for fifteen billion, 810 million dollars.

The "rest of the American continent" was counted on for five billion, 970 million. Hope was entertained that the international bank might finance heavy equipment loans to the amount of three billion, 110 million. European territorial possessions were listed for the remaining 660 million.

QUALIFIED spokesmen pointed out, however, that the division between the United States and other nations of the western hemisphere indicated only the sources from which food, fuel, raw materials and capital equipment might be obtained—not who would foot the bill.

With the possible exception of Canada and Brazil, it was not anticipated that any of the other Pan American governments would be in a position to furnish what amounts to dollar aid. Grains, etc., are available for export in South America, but the countries in question are short of dollars themselves and would want payment in that currency.

Thus, officials estimated, Uncle Sam would have to underwrite virtually all of the twenty-one billion, 780 million dollars allocated for the western hemisphere.

Hope of the 16 European nations for a three-billion dollar loan from the international bank was not raised appreciably by Vice-President Robert L. Garner.

Finally, and outside of the overall twenty-two billion, 440 million dollar figure, the Paris formula stressed need for a three billion dollar currency stabilization fund. Inasmuch as any currency stabilization would be pegged to the dollar, again the U. S. would be expected to put up the money.

SOLDIER FREED

ROME, Sept. 24—Michael A. De Bartolo, convicted as a wartime deserter, was ordered freed today after review of his trial where he pleaded amnesia to justify a two-year absence from his unit during the Italian campaign. U. S. military authorities in Italy announced that the 10-year sentence, previously reduced from an original life term, was being annulled and that the 23-year-old Dorchester, Mass., private is a "free man."

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 24—Chillicothe recorded its second traffic fatality of the year today with the death of William Johnson, 68-year-old farmer of near Bournville who was struck by an auto and fatally injured while attempting to cross a city street.

EX-MARINE CONFESSES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24—Baby-faced George A. Neill, 24-year-old Marine combat veteran, underwent further questioning today following his alleged confession to the murder of his 11-year-old niece on a Philadelphia lot.

there was an improvement in crops, particularly corn."

DAVIS SAID that reports from farmers indicated that grain crops were near normal, but that corn was much below the average. Tomatoes were cracked by the heat and peaches were wormy and below par. He said that apples were scabby and other fruits were adversely affected by the wet weather which promoted fungus growths.

Yesterday's frost on the last day of Summer contributed to the damage, Davis said. Temperatures remained above the freezing levels most everywhere this morning. Light frosts, however, were reported at Zanesville where the mercury dropped to 35 degrees and at East Liverpool where a low of 36 was recorded.

Scattered showers tonight and early tomorrow were forecast by Davis for the northern and central part of Ohio. While the mercury was on the upgrade today, Davis said there would be a return to cooler conditions by tomorrow as another shot of cold air was scheduled to move across the Great Lakes from the Northwest.

provide temporary implementation for the Marshall plan also may be made known at his news conference.

Marshall and Lovett were said to have told the President that western Europe must have two and a half billion dollars in immediate aid from the United States if starvation is to be staved off during the coming winter.

Clark Clifford, presidential assistant, also presented to the chief executive on his return from Brazil a coordinated report on European needs and the situation at home.

KILGORE TOLD White House reporters that he discussed with the President what he called the "crap game" in grain futures on the Chicago grain market.

The senator declared that legislative restrictions should be clamped on such speculation. He added:

"What's going on in Chicago is simply out and out gambling. Trading in grain futures is just like a crap game."

Kilgore blamed the present high prices on what he charged was the gambling going on in grain futures. He said that the only way to stop it is a legislative ban on trading in futures. He said that since some legislative curbs were placed on the New York stock market that market has remained relatively stable and the gamblers have had to get out.

UPDYKE 'UNIMPROVED' AT COLUMBUS HOSPITAL

Condition of Orrin Updyke, 61, Route 1, Ashville, was reported unimproved, Wednesday, in Grant hospital at Columbus.

Mr. Updyke, a widely known Pickaway county farmer and auctioneer, suffered serious injuries Sept. 19 in a traffic crash on U. S. Route 23 between Big Walnut and Shadeville.

When he swerved to avoid hitting a boy on a bicycle Mr. Updyke's auto collided headon with a car operated by Howard Wolfe, 47, Circleville.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—The congressional subcommittee investigating living costs in the East dispatched a telegram to President Truman today requesting presidential intervention to curb speculation on the nation's food commodity exchanges.

UAW OFFICIALS FIGHT PROMISES TO BE BITTER

DETROIT, Sept. 24—The widening split among top officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers promises today to develop into one of the bitterest intra-union political campaigns in organized labor's history.

Battle lines are drawn in the CIO's largest union for the forthcoming elections at the UAW annual convention in Atlantic City, with UAW president Walter P. Reuther the target of the latest verbal blast attacking the union's factional squabbling.

The executive board adopted by a 12-to-9 vote yesterday a resolution censuring Reuther for his charges in the union's publication, the Auto Worker, that the financial administration wasted a half-million dollars in an unsuccessful Cleveland organizing drive.

The attack on Reuther was led by Vice President R. J. Thomas, who is believed readying himself to oppose Reuther for the presidency.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS NAMED AT EISLER HEARING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., today named Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as one of the "prominent" people who urged the admission to the United States of Hanns Eisler, Hollywood songwriter, brother of Gerhardt Eisler, alleged Communist leader.

Hanns Eisler was called as the first witness at today's opening of public hearings before the house un-American activities committee at which an attempt will be made to "high personages" in the government.

Thomas, committee chairman, charged that "prominent people cleared the way for his entry" from Mexico after, he said, the state department had refused Eisler admittance.

HEAVY BOND SET

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24—James Iverson, 19, Cincinnati, was held for grand jury investigation today under $30,000 bond after waiving examination on eight charges, including criminal assault, robbery and automobile theft. Iverson had been apprehended when he tried to pawn a coat which he had stolen from the escort of a University of Cincinnati coed he is accused of criminally assaulting. Cincinnati police said the suspect had signed a confession admitting the other crimes.

ed that Vincent, who is deaf, sustained a hip fracture. After being thrown from "Silver" Vincent is said to have crawled to the injured horse and to have loosened the saddle before the "cowboy" collapsed and was removed to the hospital in Defenbaugh's ambulance.

ALTHOUGH Vincent was recently publicized in some Ohio newspapers as having been riding "Silver" back to Great Falls, Mont., after having made a lengthy horseback journey from Great Falls to Newark, N. J., Deputy Radcliff quoted Vincent as stating he lived at Gloversville, N. Y. and that "Silver" was owned by his brother, Arthur Vincent, also of Gloversville.

It was undetermined Wednesday whether Vincent will be sufficiently recovered to attend the Oct. 2 celebration at Newark.

UAW OFFICIALS FIGHT PROMISES TO BE BITTER

DETROIT, Sept. 24—The widening split among top officials of the CIO-United Automobile Workers promises today to develop into one of the bitterest intra-union political campaigns in organized labor's history.

Battle lines are drawn in the CIO's largest union for the forthcoming elections at the UAW annual convention in Atlantic City, with UAW president Walter P. Reuther the target of the latest verbal blast attending the union's factional squabbling.

The executive board adopted by a 12-to-9 vote yesterday a resolution censuring Reuther for his charges in the union's publication, the Auto Worker, that the financial administration wasted a half-million dollars in an unsuccessful Cleveland organizing drive.

The attack on Reuther was led by Vice President R. J. Thomas, who is believed readying himself to oppose Reuther for the presidency.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS NAMED AT EISLER HEARING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., today named Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as one of the "prominent" people who urged the admission to the United States of Hanns Eisler, Hollywood songwriter, brother of Gerhardt Eisler, alleged Communist leader.

Hanns Eisler was called as the first witness at today's opening of public hearings before the house un-American activities committee at which an attempt will be made to "high personages" in the government.

Thomas, committee chairman, charged that "prominent people cleared the way for his entry" from Mexico after, he said, the state department had refused Eisler admittance.

HEAVY BOND SET

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24—James Iverson, 19, Cincinnati, was held for grand jury investigation today under $30,000 bond after waiving examination on eight charges, including criminal assault, robbery and automobile theft. Iverson had been apprehended when he tried to pawn a coat which he had stolen from the escort of a University of Cincinnati coed he is accused of criminally assaulting. Cincinnati police said the suspect had signed a confession admitting the other crimes.

Before Trent can be placed on trial under the first degree murder indictment, Judge Radcliff explained, he must first be declared to have recovered his sanity and determination must then be made as to whether he was sane at the time the murder was committed.

TAFT CHARGES TRUMAN VETO BOOSTED PRICES

Ohio Senator Picketed On Northwest Arrival, Heckled At Talk

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 24—Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R) O., came up today from his toughest bout with anti-GOP hecklers to charge that President Truman's tax cut veto "encouraged" higher prices and more government spending.

The undeclared presidential candidate was more politically cheered than depressed by two noisy protest demonstrations which greeted his invasion of the Northwest. Taft supporters charged that the rowdiness was staged by left-wingers.

Taft was picketed upon his arrival in Seattle and heckled by about 100 anti-Taft listeners who finally walked out of an evening rally sponsored by local Republican groups. Their departing jeers were drowned in a roar of applause from the otherwise friendly audience of some 2,400 persons.

COMMUNIST party literature was passed out freely along the picket line before the rally. It advertised a speech in Seattle tonight by William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party.

Still nursing a hand painfully injured in an accident during the first demonstration, Taft discussed the price-tax-expenditure issue in a prepared speech before Seattle Rotarians at noon today.

At the same time Mrs. Taft, who took the picketing in good spirit, made her first speech of the senator's presidential pulse-feeling tour.

TAFT SAID that the "inevitable effect of maintaining high taxes is to encourage higher prices." He told his Rotary audience:

"When the President vetoed the tax bill and insisted that congress do not cut one cent from his proposed budget, many people simply assumed that he would have to stand the war burden for a year or two longer. Now we begin to see what the veto meant in terms of higher prices.

A lot of people thought that they would not benefit much from the proposed tax cut because they did not pay any taxes or they paid a very small tax. Now they begin to see that they pay a lot of other people's taxes besides their own by paying increased prices."

Taft said he could see the moment President Truman vetoed the tax bill "there was a let-up in the enthusiasm for reducing expenses—"there's the money coming into the treasury; why not spend it?"

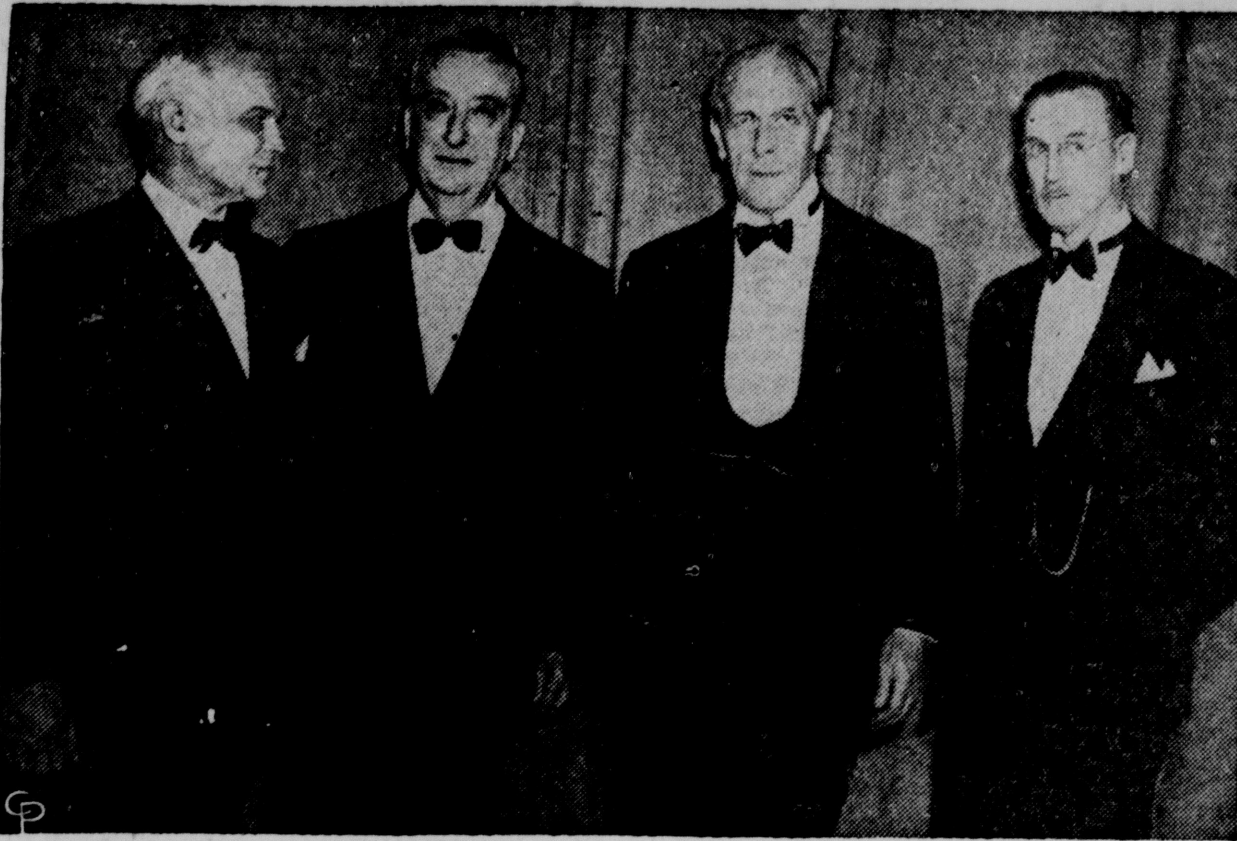

IN HIS INITIAL Seattle speech last night, Taft defended labor's basic right to strike but warned labor that refusal of its leaders to sign anti-Communist affidavits will "repeal" the Wagner act for those union members.

The GOP senate leader met the picketing problem with this smiling statement to his divided audience:

"The only political effect of that kind of demonstration is to help Republicans win the next election."

Eagles auditorium, Taft shouted into the microphone:

"Propaganda against this act (the Taft-Hartley labor law) relies upon silencing the arguments in favor of it."

The demonstration and "walkout" was anticipated by sponsors of the rally. Taft, holding his injured left hand at his side, personally greeted Republicans from the audience before leaving the rally.

The senator's hand was badly gashed when a member of the Seattle reception committee accidentally slammed an automobile door on it as the Taft party was leaving the railroad station yesterday afternoon.

Six stitches were needed to close the cut in the palm of his hand.

Taft speaks again tonight to the Seattle Bar association before leaving for Tacoma, Wash., to make his important foreign policy speech Thursday night.

MORE BENEFITS PAID HOLDERS OF INSURANCE

Benefit payments to life insurance policyholders or beneficiaries in the U. S. from their insurance companies were 9 percent greater in July than a year ago the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

In July, total payments to policyholders and beneficiaries were $247,203,000, compared with $225,877,000 in July of last year. The payments to living policyholders showed the greater gain and represented 53 percent of the aggregate payments. They were $131,245,000, up 10 percent, while death benefit payments were $115,958,000, up 9 percent.

For the first seven months of the year, total payments by the life companies were $1,766,616,000, an increase of $108,745,000 over payments of the corresponding period in 1946.

RUSSIAN WHEAT

THERE IS excitement in Paris over reports that Russia will soon send large shipments of wheat to France. These shipments will be interpreted as a Russian maneuver to discredit America and the Marshall Plan, and to strengthen French Communists for the October elections.

International conflict has undergone a curious twist, whereby black has become white and ordinary values seem distorted. The bread line is now the battlefield.

It smacks of irony to call it a dirty trick for Russia to send food to assuage French hunger. Many Americans, because of their suspicion of Russia's ultimate intentions, will not hesitate to pass harsh judgment if the rumored wheat shipments materialize. In this confusing situation a distinction first proposed many centuries ago may be useful. The truly virtuous act, according to Aristotle, is not only inherently or obviously virtuous—it is also performed in the right time and right place, in the right manner and with the right means, toward virtuous ends.

PREPOSITIONS STEP OUT

GRAMMAR rules change as do styles. Evidently the new order has affected the preposition, giving it license never accorded before. These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Diplomacy used to be the gentle art of saying whatever needed to be said without giving direct offense. The assumption was that wars can as easily be made by words as by deeds and the hope was that wars might be avoided in spite of the human habit of settling a difference by knocking out the opponent's teeth, by the urbanities of language, social intercourse and fine manners. When those who do not understand criticized the "tea-drinkers" of diplomacy, they did not realize what an important function they performed.

Just as international law has been abandoned by the proletarians who currently pass as statesmen, so have they completely discarded diplomacy. Instead of gathering about a table to find a way to peace, they have adopted the rostrum for a breast-beating exhibition of brutal rudeness, not to find a road to peace but to exhibit forensic skill in loud-mouthed ill-manners. Diplomacy has gone by the board and in its place has come the raucous shoutings of a barroom argument. No treaty of peace ever came out of that kind of table-beating, although many wars were started by boasting and strutting.

The most perfect exponent of the new method is Vishinsky, who achieved his high position in Russian affairs by managing the liquidation of Stalin's political opponents through legalized murders called purges. He was the prosecutor who drove the greatest heroes of the Russian revolution to make revolting confessions against themselves in the hope that by satisfying Stalin's insistence upon personal despotism without opposition, they might save their families.

It is this same Vishinsky who, casting aside even the semblance of public decency, rose in the United Nations forum and let loose lying attacks upon this country, its leading men, its newspapers, its people. Fortunately, he lied without glibness, he shouted without purpose, so that his intellectual dishonesty destroyed him.

For instance, among the American warmongers this advocate, who has done anything for his sole client, includes John Foster Dulles, an American devoted to peace, whose services to his country, as the author and manager of its bi-partisan foreign policy, saved Soviet Russia in those days when that country was literally eating our bread and using our arms of war to save itself. Had the war been a campaign issue in 1944, had what was known then by specialists been disclosed to the whole American people in the course of a political campaign, the crimes committed in our name, which gave Russia its opportunities to dominate so much of Europe, would have been impossible. It was Dulles, as Tom Dewey will admit, who took all discussion of the war out of the 1944 campaign.

My criticism of the bi-partisan policy is that it saved Soviet Russia so that such a person as Vishinsky can come to New York to insult us. The defense of that policy is that it gave this country the opportunity to labor for peace at the San Francisco conference, at the United Nations, and at the various councils of foreign ministers. When Vishinsky attacks Dulles, he bites the hand.

Symptoms of Brain Tumor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE brain is the great controlling organ of the body. As the seat of thought and reason, it is the source of every human achievement, but in addition to these higher functions, it also directs and controls every bodily function.

Thus, when the brain is attacked by disease, other parts of the body mirror the damage in various ways, depending on which areas of the brain are affected. For this reason it is easy to tell when a patient is suffering from a brain disorder. It is also relatively easy to tell the part of the brain that is diseased.

Diagnosing The Trouble

It is another matter, however, and a much more difficult one—to decide just what the trouble is. For this, the physician needs the greatest possible skill, patience and knowledge.

One of the conditions which may affect the brain is tumor or new growth. Symptoms of brain tumor develop very gradually, but steadily grow more pronounced and more numerous.

The first sign is usually a slight awkwardness or disability or even paralysis. Before this time, however, there are other symptoms, the most prominent of which is usually headache.

Brain Tumor Headache

The headache of brain tumor may be restricted to one area or felt throughout the head. It usually comes on as a severe attack and is most in evidence after the tumor has grown large enough to increase pressure within the skull. About 60 per cent of patients with brain tumor wait until this point to consult a physician. By this time, they are also likely to experience vomiting, but without any feeling of sickness to the stomach.

Convulsions, disturbances in vision, loss of eyesight and impairment of the intellect are symptoms which may develop slowly but surely in untreated cases of brain tumor. The type of tumor and its location to a great extent determine the symptoms.

The speed with which the symptoms become worse gives some indication as to how rapidly the brain tumor is growing.

An examination of the fluid from the spine is not always helpful in the diagnosis of brain tumor. However, an increase of the pressure of the fluid in the spinal canal is an indication that a brain tumor is present.

X-ray examination should always be made in patients suspected of having brain tumor. X-ray examination will not only show whether or not a tumor is present, but in many cases will also give an indication of its location.

Treatment of brain tumor, of course, is surgical, and nowhere has modern surgery made greater advances.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. E. P.: For the last four years I have had a burning from the tip of my tongue down through my whole digestive system. What causes this and what would help relieve it?

Answer: The condition which you mention is probably due to a nervous disorder. However, it would be well to have a careful study made by your physician to determine whether or not some disorder, such as hyperacidity or ulcers of the stomach, is present. Then treatment to relieve the condition can be prescribed.

Sometimes a burning of the tongue occurs in individuals between 40 and 60 years of age, the exact cause of which is not known. X-ray treatments of the tongue relieve this condition in some cases.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

PEGGY DERN

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

CHARLES WAS studying Gail, curiously intent.

"Are you trying to tell me that you're not in love with Greg, after all?" he demanded.

"Nor is Greg in love with me. Isn't it nice we both feel the same about it?" she said quickly. "It's been fun here and I've loved it this summer, but—well, I suppose seeing Karen and Mrs. Dillinghast out of woke me up from thinking I'd like to live here forever. I mean, after all, I guess I'm too accustomed to places like the Dillinghasts—" Once more her voice died.

Greg was no longer looking at her. His eyes were on his plate, and he was rolling a small bread crumb from the cold toast that he had not touched.

Charles looked hard at Gail and she all but cried out at the look in his eyes. He was disappointed in her, and it hurt that this should be so. She wanted more than anything else in the world, Charles' pride in her, his approval—his affection. But she steeled herself to go through with the scene; she had to salvage a few remnants of her tortured pride or she could never live with herself again. At the moment nothing in the world seemed as desperately important as getting through this scene without betraying her hurt and her heartache.

"I am sorry, chick," said Charles quietly, and even his tone seemed changed. "But of course, I can't blame you. After all, I suppose life does seem pretty grim to a girl brought up as you have been. I suppose Lissa is back in town?"

Gail clenched her hands tightly in her lap.

"No. She will be back in about a month," she managed to say calmly. "She wants me to go and stay with the Dillinghasts until she gets back."

"I see," said Charles politely. For a moment Kate's eyes went from his suddenly drawn face to Gail, and there was anger and bitterness in them. Because Gail had hurt Charles, and anything that hurt Charles always brought out the tigress in Kate's usually gentle nature.

"So if you'll lend me the station wagon to get to town, I'll be off," said Gail, with sudden, almost hysterical gaiety. "It's been fun and I've loved it—and you, Father. Her voice shook just a little and her eyes were bright with unshed tears. But she braced herself and turned to the others brightly. "And you have been so sweet, Kate—I'm very grateful. And knowing you, Norah, is one of the nicest things that's ever happened to me."

They waited, without sound, for her last words to Greg.

She spoke them quietly, almost colorlessly.

"And I'm terribly sorry, Greg—" she said.

"I'll probably recover," Greg cut in briefly.

For just a moment their eyes locked, and in Greg's there was, for a fleeting moment, a touch of something that was almost respect; brief, unwilling, almost incredulous.

"I'm sure you will," she answered him evenly.

As though unable any longer to endure her presence, he thrust back his chair and rose.

"I'll get the station wagon," he said quietly. "You'll have time to make the nine-forty if we step on it."

After the door had closed behind him there was a taut silence at the table. Gail could not trust herself to speak lest the tears that crowded so close betray her. And the others seemed not to be able to think of anything to say.

Charles cleared his throat and looked at her and said, at last, "You are going to these friends of yours, Gail?"

"The Dillinghasts? Yes, of course," Gail's tone was falsely bright, a little high.

"You'll need some money—" Charles began.

"Oh, no. I don't have plenty," Gail assured him swiftly.

Charles looked puzzled. "But your friends are in New York."

"They're in Maine," Gail cut in swiftly. "I have plenty of money for my ticket and I shan't need any after I get there."

"But—" Charles began.

"Honestly, Father, I've everything I need," she assured him, and was on her feet. "I mustn't keep Greg waiting. He'll want to get back to work."

She ran out of the room and up the stairs.

So far, so good, she told herself shakily as she stood against the closed door, bracing herself for the last and worst part of the ordeal.

Being alone with Greg on that drive to town was going to be the hardest of all. If only she could keep her composure until she was on the train! If only, some way, she could avoid those last few minutes alone with him! She had salvaged some shabby remnants of her fierce young pride; if only she could get aboard the train with that much still intact!

She heard the sound of the station wagon in the drive and drew a long hard breath, lifting her pretty chin, bracing herself.

There was a knock at the door and Charles came in, saying quietly, "I'll help you get your bags to the car."

Set her teeth hard and bent to the mirror to settle her ally little hat at a slightly more outrageously smart angle. Her heart was hammering hard. She mustn't let Charles suspect—

Behind her he said slowly, "I'm sorry, chick, about you and Greg."

STARSSAY—

For Wednesday, September 24

A DETERMINED, even drastic and forceful, attack on menaced affairs, with the hope of mending sadly broken fences, should beget much encouragement and cooperation from those in influence or friendly interest and sympathy. Problems, projects and the reputation having escaped dire results from craft and enmity, it would be well to direct practical efforts on reparations but with calm and determination, without overreaching or excessive zeal.

Credit, prestige, promotion, advanced aims should flourish.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves forging ahead with much enthusiasm and determination to make up for lost efforts or static propositions, recently held up and menaced by trickery and curious undercurrents. With temperate but persistent and sound plans and techniques, good ground may be made, with the sympathy, solid support and resources of those in high places. Seek this with assurance, but not overdoing, work to regain lost prestige, with courage, faith, concentrated forces and faculties.

A child born on this day is well favored with skills and talents to attain high goals and progress, with the aid of those in influential positions, attracted by hard work and sound purpose.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

DR. JOSE IBARRA is back in Colombia again. Every time Ibarra loses the presidency of Ecuador he dashes off to Colombia. He's been there so often he should be able to vote in that country.

Whenever Colombians see Ibarra step out of a plane with his suitcase they tell each other: "Ah, those Ecuadorians! They're having another revolution—and in such weather!"

President Ibarra was ousted as president of Ecuador for the first time in 1934. He fled to Colombia. At the time he did not know this was to become a habit.

Later Ibarra came home and tried to start a revolution against the boys who had ousted him. Either the fuse was wet or the matches wouldn't strike—for the business fizzled out and he went back to board with his Colombian pals.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

VALUE DEPENDS ON USE

Mere possession of a fine set of tools doesn't make a good carpenter. He must use them properly to get full value out of them. And if he is skillful with them most of the time, they may be utterly worthless to him on the rare occasions when he gets his mind off of his work. Then is the time he is likely to hit his finger with the hammer instead of the nail. It is likewise with the bridge player. Let him get his mind off the immediate business at hand, and he is in danger of making any kind of a mistake, even including a revoke. And that's as true of the best as of the worst.

The diamond K was led and ruffed in dummy, from which the spade 6 was brought out. East put on the K, South the 2 and West discarded the heart 9! East, with his mind woolgathering, now returned the spade 4. When West followed suit with the 3, the revoke was exposed. Dummy won and led another spade to the A. East for some reason decided to return a club instead of a heart. So South took the rest of the tricks easily. The two-trick penalty for the revoke gave him all 13.

A silly hand? Terrible bridge? Sure, but it can be done, because it was done.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—The world has gone mad. Gotham is shaking in its cement boots. Mayor O'Dwyer has not yet declared martial law, but these are grim times in New York. The reason: Sidney Ascher has turned on Brooklyn and spat in its eye.

For 10 years, the forlorn borough of Brooklyn, home of the Dodgers and the New York Navy Yard, has been defended virtually to the death by Sidney. He founded, in 1938, the Society for the Prevention of Disparaging Remarks about Brooklyn and it became one of the most talked-of organizations in America.

More than a half-million membership cards were mailed out, and the charter members included former Mayor LaGuardia and such native Brooklynites as Danny Kaye, Clara Bow, Mae West, Eleanor Holm Rose and Edward Everett Horton.

If anyone took a crack at his beloved county, Sidney rose indignantly and howled to the skies. I personally remember being black-balled when I sniped at Brooklyn in my first book, but I was reinstated and welcomed to the SPDRAB when I apologized publicly.

Today I was breaking bread with Sidney in the patio of the Henry Hudson hotel, however, and he was a gloomy man. "I do not," he said, darkly, "consider Brooklyn a fit place in which to bring up my children, of which I have two. I consider Brooklyn uncivilized and barbaric."

GENTLE PROBING REVEALED Sidney is afflicted with the gripes chiefly because of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team. He figures that every time the borough makes a little progress toward acceptance as a legitimate metropolis in the eyes of the rest of the world, the Dodgers do something asinine that cancels it out.

Ascher thinks Dodger fans are getting the runaround from the management, he figures Leo Durocher did incurable harm in his tenure as manager of the team with his circus tactics, and so on. All in all, he has given up on his native hearth, and is shopping for houses out on Long Island.

I guess Sidney knows what he wants, but Brooklyn would be a fool to let him out of its hands. For a decade he has been the only antidote the place has had for the Dodgers.

This leaves Sidney with only three other organizations to occupy his time—the Jacketless Men's Society of America, the Hayfever Sufferers' Society of America and the Society for the Establishment of Adequate Comfort Stations.

"I consider them all lost causes," he says, "and I do not make a cent out of any of them, but I am the kind of man who cannot stand and see people pushed around, you know what I mean?"

The hayfever group was begun 14 years ago, and has not been exactly a lost cause, since after it yelled loudly enough, the City Council here passed a resolution making the presence of ragweed in one's yard illegal.

THE JACKETLESS SOCIETY is five years old. Sidney had an appointment one day, the hottest day of summer, and got so incensed that he sent out a clarion call that day to New York's males and the next day 30 of them showed up for a protest meeting.

This cause has slowed up a little, though; in fact, Sidney was wearing a jacket as we sat lunching. I pointed this out. "That's the TROUBLE," he said, sadly, "no one will make the first move. Not even me."

When he is not fooling around with the reformation of the world, Sidney is a press agent—one of the few honest ones. His clients include Evelyn Knight, Andy Russell, Happy Felton, Vic Damone and others, and his friends are, as we say, legion. Sid used to be a newspaperman, until he decided one day, "the readers don't want the truth."

"It just gets you in trouble when you write it," he declared, "so I thought I would be better off in publicity, where you don't have to worry about the truth."

Ascher is currently vending the charms of Lisa Kirk, who is scheduled to burst on the Broadway scene in the elaborate new Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, "Allegro," and to hear Sidney, who is enthusiastic if nothing else, she is the greatest thing since Helen Morgan. "And sexy, too," he adds reflectively.

Sidney is very serious about his more comfort-stations campaign. He would like to tie it in with jobs for wounded war veterans, giving them free rent at newsstands by the stations in return for their taking care of the stations.

As for Brooklyn—even though he is soured on the borough of undertakers, Sidney cannot bring himself to discuss it with neighbors. "I just tell them I am going out into the world," he says, "to do missionary work. It's easier."

RUSSIAN WHEAT

THERE IS excitement in Paris over reports that Russia will soon send large shipments of wheat to France. These shipments will be interpreted as a Russian maneuver to discredit America and the Marshall Plan, and to strengthen French Communists for the October elections.

International conflict has undergone a curious twist, whereby black has become white and ordinary values seem distorted.
The bread line is now the battlefield.

It smacks of irony to call it a dirty trick for Russia to send food to assuage French hunger. Many Americans, because of their suspicion of Russia's ultimate intentions, will not hesitate to pass harsh judgment if the rumored wheat shipments materialize.

In this confusing situation a distinction first proposed many centuries ago may be useful. The truly virtuous act, according to Aristotle, is not only inherently or obviously virtuous—it is also performed in the right time and right place, in the right manner and with the right means, toward virtuous ends.

PREPOSITIONS STEP OUT

GRAMMAR rules change as do styles.

as by deeds and the hope was that wars might be avoided in spite of the human habit of settling a difference by knocking manners. When those who do not understand criticized the "tea-drinkers" of diplomacy, they did not realize what an important function they performed.

Just as international law has been abandoned by the proletarians who currently pass as statesmen, so have they completely discarded diplomacy. Instead of gathering about a table to find a way to peace, they have adopted the rostrum for a breast-beating exhibition of brutal rudeness, not to find a road to peace but to exhibit forensic skill in loud-mouthed ill-manners. Diplomacy has gone by the board and in its place has come the raucous shoutings of a barroom arguer. No treaty of peace ever came out of that kind of table-beating, although many wars were started by boasting and strutting.

The most perfect exponent of the new method is Vishinsky, who achieved his high position in Russian affairs by managing the liquidation of Stalin's political opponents through legalized murders called purges. He was the prosecutor who drove the greatest heroes of the Russian revolution to make revolting confessions against themselves in the hope that by satisfying Stalin's insistence upon personal despotism without opposition, they might save their families.

It is this same Vishinsky who, casting aside even the semblance of public decency, rose in the United Nations forum and let loose lying attacks upon this country, its leading men, its newspapers, its people.
Fortunately, he lied without glibness, he shouted without purpose, so that his intelthing for his sole client, includes John Foster Dulles, an American devoted to peace, whose services to his country, as the author and manager of its bi-partisan fornities to dominate so much of Europe, would have been impossible. It was Dulles, as Tom Dewey will admit, who took all discussion of the war out of the 1944 campaign.

My criticism of the bi-partisan policy is that it saved Soviet Russia so that such a person as Vishinsky can come to New York to insult us. The defense of that policy is that it gave this country the opportunity to labor for peace at the San Francisco con-various councils of foreign ministers. When

Symptoms of Brain Tumor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE brain is the great controlling organ of the body. As the seat

tions, it also directs and controls every bodily function.

Thus, when the brain is attacked mirror the damage in various ways, depending on which areas of the brain are affected. For this reason it is easy to tell when a patient is suffering from a brain disorder. It is also relatively easy to tell the part of the brain that is diseased.

Diagnosing The Trouble

It is another matter, however—and a much more difficult one—to decide just what the trouble is. For this, the physician needs the greatest possible skill, patience and knowledge.

One of the conditions which may affect the brain is tumor or new growth. Symptoms of brain tumor develop very gradually, but steadily grow more pronounced and more numerous.

The first sign is usually a slight awkwardness or disability or even paralysis. Before this time, however, there are other symptoms, the most prominent of which is usually headache.

Brain Tumor Headache

The headache of brain tumor may be restricted to one area or felt throughout the head. It usually comes on as a severe attack and is most in evidence after the tumor has grown large enough to increase pressure within the skull. About 50 per cent of patients with brain tumor wait until this point to consult a physician. By this time, they are also likely to experience vomiting, but without any feeling of sickness to the stomach.

Convulsions, disturbances in vision, loss of eyesight and impairment of the intellect are symptoms which may develop slowly but surely in untreated cases of brain tumor.
The type of tumor and its location to a great extent determine the symptoms.

The speed with which the symptoms become worse gives some indication as to how rapidly the brain tumor is growing.

An examination of the fluid from the spine is not always helpful in the diagnosis of brain tumor. However, an increase of the pressure of the fluid in the spinal canal is an indication that a brain tumor is present.

I guess Sidney knows what he wants, but Brooklyn would be a fool to let him out of its hands. For a decade he has been the only antidote the place has had for the Dodgers.

This leaves Sidney with only three other organizations to occupy his time—the Jacketless Men's Society of America, the Hayfever Sufferers' Society of America and the Society for the Establishment of Adequate Comfort Stations.

"I consider them all lost causes," he says, "and I do not make a cent out of any of them, but I am the kind of man who cannot stand and see people pushed around, you know what I mean?"

The hayfever group was begun 14 years ago, and has not been exactly a lost cause, since after it yelled loudly enough, the City Council here passed a resolution making the presence of ragweed in one's yard illegal.

THE JACKETLESS SOCIETY is five years old. Sidney had an appointment one day, the hottest day of summer, and got so incensed that he sent out a clarion call that day to New York's males the next day 30 of them showed up for a protest meeting.

This cause has slowed up a little, though; in fact, Sidney was wearing a jacket as we sat lunching. I pointed this out. "That's the TROUBLE," he said, sadly, "no one will make the first move.
Not even me."

When he is not fooling around with the reformation of the world, Sidney is a press agent—one of the few honest ones. His clients include Evelyn Knight, Andy Russell, Happy Felton, Vic Damone and others, and his friends are, as we say, legion. Sid used to be a newspaperman, until he decided one day, "the readers don't want the truth."

"It just gets you in trouble when you write it," he declared,
"so I thought I would be better off in publicity, where you don't have to worry about the truth."

Ascher is currently vying the charms of Lisa Kirk, who is scheduled to burst on the Broadway scene in the elaborate new Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, "Alligro," and to hear Sidney, who is enthusiastic if nothing else, she is the greatest thing since Helen Morgan. "And sexy, too," he adds reflectively.

Sidney is very serious about his more comfort-stations campaign.
He would like to tie it in with jobs for wounded war veterans, giving them free rent at newstands by the stations in return for their taking care of the stations.

As for Brooklyn—even though he is soured on the borough of undertakers, Sidney cannot bring himself to discuss it with neighbors. "I just tell them I am going out into the world," he says,
"to do missionary work. It's easier."

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

CHARLES WAS studying Gail, curiously intent.

"Are you trying to tell me that you're not in love with Greg, after all?" he demanded.

"Nor is Greg in love with me.
Isn't it nice we both feel the same about it?" she said quickly. "It's been fun here and I've loved it this summer, but—well, I suppose seeing Karen and Mrs. Dillingham sort of woke me up from thinking I'd like to live here forever. I mean, after all, I guess I'm too accustomed to places like the Dillinghams—" Once more her voice died.

Greg was no longer looking at her. His eyes were on his plate, and he was rolling a small bread crumb from the cold toast that he had not touched.

Charles looked hard at Gail and she all but cried out at the look in his eyes. He was disappointed in her, and it hurt that this should be so. She wanted more than anything else in the world, Charles' pride in her, his approval—his affection. But she steeled herself to go through with the scene; she had to salvage a few remnants of her tortured pride or she could never live with herself again. At the moment nothing in the world seemed as desperately important as getting through this scene without betraying her hurt and her heartache.

"I am sorry, chick," said Charles quietly, and even his tone seemed changed. "But of course, I can't blame you. After all, I suppose life does seem pretty grim to a girl brought up as you have been. I suppose Lissa is back in town?"

Gail clenched her hands tightly in her lap.

"No. She will be back in about a month," she managed to say clearly. "She wants to go and stay with the Dillinghams until she gets back."

"I see," said Charles politely.
For a moment Kate's eyes went from his suddenly drawn face to Gail, and there was anger and bitterness in them. Because Gail had hurt Charles, and anything that hurt Charles always brought out the tigress in Kate's usually gentle nature.

"So if you'll lend me the station wagon to get to town, I'll be off," said Gail, with sudden, almost hy-stERIC gaily. "It's been fun and I've loved it, and—yes, Father."
Her voice shook just a little and her eyes were bright with unshed tears. But she braced herself and turned to the others brightly. "And you have been so sweet, Kate—I'm very grateful. And knowing you, Norah, is one of the nicest things
that's ever happened to me."

They waited, without sound, for her last words to Greg.
She spoke them quietly, almost colorlessly.

"And I'm terribly sorry, Greg—"

"I'll probably recover," Greg cut in briefly.

For just a moment their eyes locked, and in Greg's there was,
for a fleeting moment, a touch of something that was almost respect; brief, unwilling, almost incredulous.

"I'm sure you will," she answered him evenly.

As though unable any longer to endure her presence, he thrust back his chair and rose.

"I'll get the station wagon," he said quietly. "You'll have time to make the nine-forty if we step on it."

After the door had closed behind him there was a faint silence at the table. Gail could not trust herself to speak lest the tears that crowded so close betray her. And the others seemed not to be able to think of anything to say.

Charles cleared his throat and looked at her and said, at last,
"You are going to these friends of yours, Gail?"

"The Dillinghams? Yes, of course." Gail's tone was falsely bright, a little high.

"You'll need some money—" Charles began.

"Oh, no, I shan't. I have plenty,"
Gail assured him swiftly.

Charles looked puzzled.

"But your friends are in New York."

"They're in Maine," Gail cut in swiftly. "I have plenty of money for my ticket and I shan't need any after I get there."

"But—"

"Honestly, Father, I've everything I need," she assured him, and was on her feet. "I mustn't keep Greg waiting. He'll want to get back to work."

She ran out of the room and up the stairs.

So far, so good, she told herself shakily as she stood against the closed door, bracing herself for the last and worst part of the ordeal.
Being alone with Greg on that drive to town was going to be hardest of all. If only she could keep her composure until she was on the train! If only, some way, she could avoid those last few minutes alone with him! She had salvaged some shabby remnants of her fierce young pride; if only she could get aboard the train with that much still intact!

She heard the sound of the station wagon in the drive and drew a long hard breath, lifting her pretty chin, bracing herself.

There was a knock at the door and Charles came in, saying quietly, "I'll help you get your bags to the car."

She set her teeth hard and bent to the mirror to settle her ally little hat at a slightly more outrageously smart angle. Her heart was hammering hard. She mustn't let Charles suspect—

Behind her he said slowly, "I'm sorry, chick, about you and Greg."

STARSSAY—
For Wednesday, September 24
A DETERMINED, even drastic and forceful, attack on menaced affairs, with the hope of mending sadly broken fences, should beget much encouragement and cooperation from those in influence or friendly intent and sympathy. Problems, projects and the reputation having escaped dire results from craft and enmity, it would be well to direct practical efforts on reparations but with calm and determination, without oversearching or excessive zeal.

Credit, prestige, promotion, advanced aims should flourish.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves forging ahead with much enthusiasm and determination to make up for lost efforts or static propositions, recently held up and menaced by trickery and curious undercurrents. With temperate but persistent and sound plans and techniques, good ground may be made, with the sympathy, solid support and resources of those in high places. Seek this with assurance, but not overdoing, work to regain lost prestige, with courage, faith, concentrated forces and faculties.

A child born on this day is well-favored with skills and talents to attain high goals and progress, with the aid of those in influential positions, attracted by hard work and sound purpose.

Whenever Colombians see

President Ibarra was ousted

VALUE DEPENDS ON USE

Mere possession of a fine set of tools doesn't make a good carpenter. He must use them properly to get full value out of them.
And if he is skillful with them most of the time, they may be utterly worthless to him on the rare occasions when he gets his mind off of his work. Then is the time he is likely to hit his finger with the hammer instead of the nail. It is likewise with the bridge player. Let him get his mind off the immediate business at hand, and he is in danger of making any kind of a mistake, even including a revoke. And that's as true of the best as of the worst.

East. This deal came late at night in a rubber session between two lawyers with their wives as partners. South was Arthur W.
Graef, who requests that the name of his opponents be kept forever secret.

Now a simple analysis will show that East and West had a laydown for 5-Diamonds or 4-Hearts, also that 4-Spades were in the bag for North-South. What actually happened, however, is that South made 7-Spades on his bid of four, scoring three extras despite the fact that the ace and king of trumps were out against him.

The diamond K was led and ruffed in dummy, from which the spade 6 was brought out. East

West discarded the heart 9! East, with his mind woolgathering, now returned the spade 4. When West followed suit with the 3, the revoke was exposed. Dummy won

East for some reason decided to return a club instead of a heart.
So South took the rest of the

Past Worthy Matrons and Patrons Honored

60 OES Members Attend Social Meeting

Roses and other flowers of the early Autumn flowers provided an effective background for the social meeting of Order of Eastern Star, number 90, when its members honored all past worthy matrons and past worthy patrons. Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, worthy matron and J. Arthur Sark, worthy patron, were in the chairs for the meeting with 60 members in attendance, Tuesday evening in the chapter rooms of Masonic temple.

During a brief business session Mrs. Reichelderfer named Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, Mrs. Leslie D. May and Sam Morris to serve on the auditing committee.

Mrs. George Welker on behalf of the chapter presented corsages and boutonnieres to all past worthy matrons and patrons. As she made the presentations she recited an original poem. Miss Reba Lee made the welcoming address. Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer gave two short skits, "Encouragement" and "Luk's Dilemma."

Mrs. Robert Goodchild and daughter, Nancy played a piano duet. Their selections were "Mr. Ming" and "Norwegian Dance." Thurman Miller entertained the group with a magic show.

Those responsible for the evening's entertainment were Miss Lee, Mrs. Earl W. Hilyard, Mrs. Erwin Leist, Mrs. E. L. Montgomery, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Welker, Mrs. Harold Deffenbaugh and Mrs. Herschel Hill.

Refreshments were served in the Red room where places were marked at the long tables by attractive floral place cards. Each table was centered with an arrangement of vivid colored flowers. Mrs. Fred J. Colville, Mrs. Dick Robinson, Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Mrs. Karl Johnson, Miss Virginia Marion, Mrs. Joe Brinks, Mrs. Robert Goodchild, Mrs. Homer Reber, Mrs. Guy Cline, Mrs. Oscar Ward and the worthy matron were hostesses for the outstanding affair and served the refreshments.

Plans were made for the next meeting when the organization will have a reception to honor all new members of the past year. Mrs. Reichelderfer named to serve on the program committee for the reception, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Sr., Mrs. Earl Price, Mrs. Charles Smith, and Mrs. Robert Denman. On the food committee will be Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Earl Rader, Mrs. Harry Greiner, Mrs. Mae Groom, Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson, and Mrs. Sam Morris.

WASHINGTON GRANGE

Members of Washington grange will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in the Washington township school building, for annual inspection night. The public as well as the members are extended cordial invitations to attend the program. A history of Washington grange will be read during the evening.

WESLEY-WEDS TO PICNIC

Members of Wesley-Wed class of the First Methodist church will have a "hamburger fry" Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in Gold Cliff park. All members are urged to attend and bring their children. Each is requested to bring their hamburger, buns, a covered-dish and individual table service.

WIENER ROAST SLATED

Gleaners class members of the Pontious Evangelical United Brethren church will have a wiener roast Friday at 8 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clark, Deer creek township.

GROUP TO MEET

Mrs. Edward Davis will extend the hospitality of her home on North Court street, Friday at 7:30 p. m. to members of group F, Women's Association of the Presbyterian church for their September meeting.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennet Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more active.

graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

DR. MONTGOMERY GUEST SPEAKER AT STUDY CLUB

Opening meeting of the Fall season for members of the Child Study Club was held in the home of Mrs. Joseph A. Rooney, II, South Pickaway street, Mrs. W. Nolan Brown was co-hostesses.

Dr. E. L. Montgomery was guest speaker for the evening and used as his subject for most informative discussion, "Common Problems of the Eyes, Ears, Nose and Throat and Misconceptions." He said in part, "ear trouble should be attended to at the very earliest date of occurrence, and the right care in childhood may prevent deafness and discomfort in later life."

"The best way to get rid of a cold is not to get one," said Dr. Montgomery. "The basic health rules will keep down the prevalent disturbance—plenty of sleep, proper diet, avoiding drafts, and wearing clothing pertaining to the weather."

In discussing sinus, he stated "many cases are not sinus but allergies. Care of the eyes in childhood is very important and any signs of weakness should not be neglected." Following his enlightening talk a general discussion was held by the group.

Business session was held prior to Dr. Montgomery's address. Routine reports were submitted and plans for the state convention in Toledo were discussed. The state meeting will be October 9 and 10. Mrs. Richard Morris was appointed delegate from this district.

In a message from the state president it was noted that 50 new leagues had been organized in Ohio during the year 1941 and '42, making a total of 743 new members. Mrs. Rooney, program chairman, listed the programs for the coming year.

Refreshments were served during the social hours by the hostesses.

Personals

Roger Jury, North Pickaway street, is spending a couple of days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jury at their home in Salt Creek township.

Job R. Renick, Newark, New York, has been the guest of his mother, Mrs. Grace F. Renick, North Scioto street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Noggle have returned to their home in Salinas, California, after a week's visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Noggle, East Main street.

Miss Regina Thornton, East Main street, is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gans, Madison, Indiana.

Mrs. J. H. Jadwin and Mrs. Margaret Phillips have returned to their homes in Los Angeles, California, after an extended visit with relatives in Circleville and Lancaster. Mrs. Jadwin is a sister of Mrs. E. E. Sensenbrenner, East Mound street, and was a guest for some time in her home.

Mrs. James Cheek, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Littleton, North Pickaway street.

SIGMA PHI GAMMA

Regular business meeting of the Sigma Phi Gamma sorority will be Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the chapter rooms of Masonic temple. All members and pledges are urged to be present. Following the business session, installation of officers will be held.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients. Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Youth Fellowship Group Has Meeting

Youth Fellowship group of the Stoutsville Evangelical United Brethren church met in the home of the Drum sisters. The meeting opened with the group singing "He Lifted Me" and "Stand Up For Jesus". Mrs. Glenn Crabtree was in charge of the devotional period, and spoke on "The Different Ways of Serving the Lord". Prayer was offered by Florence Drum and Mrs. Crabtree.

Plans were made by the group to meet every other Sunday evening. Joyce Huston, and Patty Hartsock will be in charge of the first meeting. In closing the business session the group sang "Jesus Calls Us". Games and refreshments followed.

Attending the affair were Treva Haynes, Patty Lynch, Joyce Huston, Evelyn Drum, Patty Hartsock, Joann Noggle, Florence Drum, Marie Birkhead, Donna Conrad, Masel Birkhead, Frank Carpenter, Jack La Rue, Gene Haynes, Melvin Poling, the Rev. Glenn Crabtree and Mrs. Crabtree.

FINAL PLANS FOR CLIFTON - NELSON WEDDING MADE

Climaxing a series of gay pre-nuptial events will be the rehearsal dinner given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clifton, North Court street, for members of the wedding party of their daughter, Miss Bette Clifton, and Walter H. Nelson, Jr., Dayton.

The bridegroom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Nelson Sr., South Court street. The wedding will take place Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church, with the open church service to be solemnized by the Rev. Elisha Kneisley.

Miss Clifton has chosen Miss Barbara Caskey as her maid of honor and Mrs. Rosemary Goodchild as matron of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Jack Clifton, Circleville, and Mrs. Jack Morton, Beckley, West Virginia. Petite Judy Routzahn will be flower girl.

Mr. Nelson has asked George Speakman to be best man. Seating the guests will be Jack Clifton, Richard Clifton, Frank Barnhill Jr., and Dr. Paul C. Routzahn. Assisting hostesses at the reception will be Miss Barbara Helwagen, Mrs. David Glick, Mrs. George Speakman, Mrs. Frank E. Barnhill Jr., Circleville, and Miss Audrey Turner, Washington state.

SUPPER SLATED

Members of St. Philips church will have a covered-dish supper Friday at 6:30 p. m. in the Parish house. Each is requested to bring their individual table service.

WCTU Elects Officers; Miss Houlder Speaker

The 57th annual all day convention of the Pickaway County Women's Christian Temperance Union convened Tuesday in the First Evangelical United Brethren church. Mrs. Edna Ewing, Mt. Sterling, president, called the meeting to order and led the group in the salute to the flag.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor, lead the devotions. Mrs. Lawrence Warner, president of the Circleville Union, opened the meeting and extended greetings to the assembly. Mrs. Mabel Lewis, New Holland, conducted roll call with all county officers in attendance. The county report was presented by Mrs. Delphine Cromley, Ashville, treasurer. Mrs. Lewis, recording-secretary, submitted her report.

Election of officers took place during the morning session with Mrs. Ewing renamed acting president. Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, Circleville, was named vice-president. Mrs. Lewis, recording-secretary. Mrs. Cromley, treasurer and Mrs. Florence Haugh, Commercial Point, corresponding-secretary.

Noontide prayer was voiced by Mrs. Warner. Luncheon was served by ladies of the church in the Community house at noon. An executive board meeting was called immediately following luncheon. At this time several department heads were appointed.

Mrs. Ewing introduced Miss Graccio Houlder, Australian orator, lecturer and writer, who was the principal speaker. Miss Houlder is an international speaker, whose world-wide travels have taken her into almost every country. She used the medium of sound, technicolor, films to present her message on Australia today. Two short subjects were presented for "accentuating world friendship by knowing your Pacific neighbors." Miss Houlder is known for her pleasing personality and forceful presentation of her lectures.

In her address Miss Houlder said that "today we have 3,000,000 alcoholics including men and women. Alcoholism is a disease. It can be cured if the victim desires to be cured—but if the victim does not cooperate there is little can be done to assist him. It is the most preventable of all diseases, and it can not be caught like measles or chickenpox. It is a self inflicted disease."

In continuing she said "life can be beautiful if we strive to make it so. We live in a world full of bright futures and wonderful hopes."

derful discoveries, and all that mankind has achieved should not be destroyed by alcoholism." Her closing words were "keep the temperance light shining around the world." With the benediction the annual meeting came to a conclusion.

STATE T. B. MEETING

Mrs. C. E. Webb, East Main street, executive secretary of the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association will attend an all day meeting Thursday in the Neil house, Columbus. The "workers conference" is for all executive secretaries in Ohio who are making preliminary plans for the annual sale of Christmas seals. Dr. John H. Skazlem, Cincinnati, will present the featured address. His slated subjects for discussion include, "Physiology of the Lung," "Immunization" and "Streptomycin."

Past Worthy Matrons and Patrons Honored

60 OES Members Attend Social Meeting

Roses and other flowers of the early autumn provided an effective background for the social meeting of Order of Eastern Star, number 90, when its members honored all past worthy matrons and past worthy patrons. Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, worthy matron and J. Arthur Sark, worthy patron, were in the chairs for the meeting with 60 members in attendance. Tuesday evening in the chapter rooms of Masonic temple.

During a brief business session Mrs. Reichelderfer named Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, Mrs. Leslie D. May and Sam Morris to serve on the auditing committee.

Mrs. George Welker on behalf of the chapter presented corsages and boutonnières to all past worthy matrons and patrons. As she made the presentations she recited an original poem. Miss Reba Lee made the welcoming address. Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer gave two short talks, "Encouragement" and "Luk's Dilemma."

Mrs. Robert Goodchild and daughter, Nancy played a piano duet. Their selections were "Mr. Ming" and "Norwegian Dance." Thurman Miller entertained the group with a magic show.

Those responsible for the evening's entertainment were Miss Lee, Mrs. Earl W. Hilyard, Mrs. Erwin Leist, Mrs. E. L. Montgomery, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Welker, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh and Mrs. Herschel Hill.

Refreshments were served in the Red room where places were marked at the long tables by attractive floral place cards. Each table was centered with an arrangement of vivid colored flowers. Mrs. Fred J. Colville, Mrs. Dick Robinson, Mrs. Dorothy Gerhardt, Mrs. Karl Johnson, Mrs. Virginia Marion, Mrs. Joe Brinks, Mrs. Robert Goodchild, Mrs. Homer Reber, Mrs. Guy Cline, Mrs. Oscar Ward and the worthy matron were hostesses for the outstanding affair and served the refreshments.

Plans were made for the next meeting when the organization will have a reception to honor all new members of the past year. Mrs. Reichelderfer named to serve on the program committee for the reception, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. W. H. Nelson, Sr., Mrs. Earl Price, Mrs. Charles Smith, and Mrs. Robert Denman. On the food committee will be Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Earl Rader, Mrs. Harry Greiner, Mrs. Mae Groom, Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson, and Mrs. Sam Morris.

DR. MONTGOMERY GUEST SPEAKER AT STUDY CLUB

Opening meeting of the Fall season for members of the Child Study Club was held in the home of Mrs. Joseph A. Rooney, II, South Pickaway street, Mrs. Nolan Brown was co-hostesses.

Dr. E. L. Montgomery was guest speaker for the evening and used as his subject for a most informative discussion, "Common Problems of the Eyes, Ears, Nose and Throat and Misconceptions." He said in part, "A trouble should be attended to at the very earliest date of occurrence, and the right care in childhood may prevent deafness and discomfort in later life."

"The best way to get rid of a cold is not to get one," said Dr. Montgomery. "The basic health rules will keep down the prevalent disturbance—plenty of sleep, proper diet, avoiding drafts, and wearing clothing pertaining to the weather."

In discussing sinus, he stated "many cases are not sinus but allergies. Care of the eyes in childhood is very important and any signs of weakness should not be neglected." Following his enlightening talk a general discussion was held by the group.

Business session was held prior to Dr. Montgomery's address. Routine reports were submitted and plans for the state convention in Toledo were discussed. The state meeting will be October 9 and 10. Mrs. Richard Morris was appointed delegate from this district.

In a message from the state president it was noted that 50 new leagues had been organized in Ohio during the year 1941 and '42, making a total of 748 new members. Mrs. Rooney, program chairman, listed the programs for the coming year.

Refreshments were served during the social hours by the hostesses.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell. Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease. To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients. Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste. Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

WCTU Elects Officers; Miss Houlder Speaker

The 57th annual all day convention of the Pickaway County Women's Christian Temperance Union convened Tuesday in the First Evangelical United Brethren church, Mrs. Edna Ewing, Mt. Sterling, president, called the meeting to order and led the group in the salute to the flag.

The Rev. Carl L. Wilson, pastor, lead the devotions. Mrs. Lawrence Warner, president of the Circleville Union, opened the meeting and extended greetings to the assembly. Mrs. Mabel Lewis, New Holland, conducted roll call with all county officers in attendance. The county report was presented by Mrs. Delphine Cromley, Ashville, treasurer. Mrs. Lewis, recording-secretary, submitted her report.

Election of officers took place during the morning session with Mrs. Ewing renamed acting president. Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, Circleville, was named vice-president. Mrs. Lewis, recording-secretary. Mrs. Cromley, treasurer and Mrs. Florence Haugh, Commercial Point, corresponding secretary.

Noontide prayer was voiced by Mrs. Warner. Luncheon was served by ladies of the church in the Community house at noon. An executive board meeting was called immediately following luncheon. At this time several department heads were appointed.

Mrs. Ewing introduced Miss Graccio Houlder, Australian orator, lecturer and writer, who was the principal speaker. Miss Houlder is an international speaker, whose world-wide travels have taken her into almost every country. She used the medium of sound, technicolor, films to present her message on Australia today. Two short subjects were presented for "accentuating world friendship by knowing your Pacific neighbors." Miss Houlder is known for her pleasing personality and forceful presentation of her lectures.

In her address Miss Houlder said that "today we have 3,000,000 alcoholics including men and women. Alcoholism is a disease. It can be cured if the victim desires to be cured—but if the victim does not cooperate there is little can be done to assist him. It is the most preventable of all diseases, and it can not be caught like measles or chickenpox. It is a self inflicted disease."

In continuing she said "life can be beautiful if we strive to make it so. We live in a world full of bright futures and wonderful discoveries, and all that mankind has achieved should not be destroyed by alcoholism." Her closing words were "keep the temperance light shining around the world." With the benediction the annual meeting came to a conclusion.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennet Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bulky disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and fat and help regain slender, more active.

MAJOR LEAGUES WIDE OPEN FOR RUNNER-UP SPOT

Hard Battle Seen Ahead As
Seven Teams Are Possibly
In The Running

By International News Service
The fight for "place" and "show" in the major leagues will be just as rugged as the battle for first was.

Today, at least six, and perhaps seven teams in the majors have a fine chance of finishing in the runner-up spot in their respective leagues.

The American League offers the keenest struggle. The Tigers, the Red Sox, the Indians, and the Athletics all have a good chance of finishing second.

YESTERDAY, the Tigers took possession of second place and dropped the Red Sox to third by a half game. Prince Hal Newhouser neatly scattered 10 White Sox hits to gain credit for a 4-to-1 triumph, his 16th.

The Red Sox and the Athletics got involved in a twin-bill, and after the last putout had been made, neither team had gained.

The fifth place A's took the opener, 9 to 3, behind the fine pitching of Phil Marchildon, the sinker ball artist who doled out five hits, including Ted Williams' 31st home run to score his 18th victory.

The Red Sox came right back to win the nightcap, 6 to 5, staving off a late-inning Athletic rally to win.

The Cleveland Indians remained right behind the Red Sox, creeping to within a game of third place by defeating the last-place St. Louis Browns, 7 to 4.

Bob Lemon, after getting rocked for four runs in the first three frames, settled down to chalk up his 11th triumph.

IN THE NATIONAL League, the St. Louis Cardinals bounced back from the shock of their pennant loss to club the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 4.

The Cards, who are only two games ahead of the third place Braves, clipped Fritz Osterweil and Al Lyons for 13 safeties including home run blasts by Whitey Kurowski and Chuck Diering.

The Pirates' husky Ralph Kiner blasted circuit club No. 51 to go one home run ahead of Johnny Mize in the major league home run race.

Mize went hitless in the Giants' game with the Dodgers. The Brooks continued their mastery over the New Yorkers by drubbing them for the 14th time this season, 6 to 1.

In the only other game played in the National League, the Chicago Cubs erupted for seven runs in the fourth inning to overcome the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 2. Bill Nicholson hit his 25th home run.

THE NEW YORK Yankees, coasting to their world series engagement with the Dodgers, exhibited superb pitching in topping the Washington Senators twice, 2 to 0, and 3 to 1.

In the first game Allie Reynolds earned his 19th victory and stretched the consecutive scoreless inning streak to 17.

Big Frank Shea pitched the second game and gave up only two hits, one a bloop double that resulted in the only run scored against him.

Joe DiMaggio and Bill Johnson hit home runs to account for all the runs in the second game.

MARION LEADS IN STATE LEAGUE PLAYOFF SERIES

By International News Service

The Ohio State league preliminary playoff series shifted scenes today with Zanesville and Springfield continuing their rivalry in the latter city while Marion and Muncie crossed the state line into Indiana.

Marion, second during the regular season, carried a two-game lead to Muncie. The Cubs slugged out a 14-to-11 decision over the Cincinnati Reds farm last night.

Zanesville, regular season first place club, and fourth place Springfield were all square at one apiece following Springfield's 10-to-2 humbling of the Dodgers last night.

Scribe Picks Yankees To Trounce Dodgers

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—I want to do this quickly and early:

It is my opinion, that the Brooklyn Dodgers will be lucky to win one game from the New York Yankees in the World series.

Considering that I picked the Red Sox to win four straight over the Cardinals last year, I'm sure you realize that anything I have to say about baseball is a fine display of audacity.

HOWEVER, if you will bear with me for a moment, I should like to point out that pitching is at least 90 per cent of any ball game. People like Mr. Connie Mack, and Joe McCarthy who used to manage the Yankees, and other baseball geniuses say pitching is 75 per cent.

I'm insisting that in this series, pitching will be 90 per cent, and hitting, fielding, and those other things will be negligible. I believe the Yankees will win the World Series strictly on pitching.

They are a bad ball club, but in recent weeks, they have had good pitching, with their entire staff bearing down and trying to earn a starting berth in the World Series.

I am convinced that if either team can get a couple of well-pitched games, it will be the winner. On that basis, I think the Yankees have a distinct edge.

Their pitchers have been getting better, while the Dodgers pitchers have been going through the motions.

APPARENTLY, we are dismissing the Dodgers as a bunch of humpty-dumpties. That isn't the point of this piece at all. They outlasted the Cardinals, who were the odds-on favorite to win the National League pennant, and they earned their place in the World Series as a good stout ball club.

Adding one thing against another, the Dodgers generally will be given a good chance against the Yankees in a short series. But, that inevitably brings us back to the conviction that the Dodgers can't beat the Yankee pitching.

Only a few days ago, Bucky Harris, manager of the Yankees, said that his pitchers all appeared to be determined to get in the World Series. All of a sudden, they are pitching tremendous baseball.

SINCE HARRIS announced that he was undecided as to his

World Series pitchers, everybody has come to life. He has nothing but winning pitchers on this squad. Allie Reynolds has pitched two straight shutouts. Frank Shea has pitched a four-hitter and a two-hitter. Bobo Newsom still has his stuff, and Bill Bevens, a chronic loser all season, has chimed in with a brilliant three-hit effort.

So as I was saying at the outset of this wonderful piece of prophetic literature, I do not see how the Yankees can possibly lose the World Series. Of course, it is ball clubs like the Brooklyn Bums which make bums of geniuses like myself.

Actually, here is a ball club called the Dodgers which is about to appear in the World Series without a real manager. Burt Shotton took the job without a contract, without promise, and, without hope, ended up with the pennant.

But don't tell me he's going to win the World Series, too.

MAJOR LEAGUES WIDE OPEN FOR RUNNER-UP SPOT

Hard Battle Seen Ahead As
Seven Teams Are Possibly
In The Running

By International News Service
The fight for "place" and "show" in the major leagues will be just as rugged as the battle for first was.

Today, at least six, and perhaps seven teams in the majors have a fine chance of finishing in the runner-up spot in their respective leagues.

The American League offers the keenest struggle. The Tigers, the Red Sox, the Indians, and the Athletics all have a good chance of finishing second.

YESTERDAY, the Tigers took possession of second place and dropped the Red Sox to third by a half game. Prince Hal Newhouse neatly scattered 10 White Sox hits to gain credit for a 4-to-1 triumph, his 16th.

The Red Sox and the Athletics got involved in a twin-bill, and after the last putout had been made, neither team had gained.

The fifth place A's took the opener, 9 to 3, behind the fine pitching of Phil Marchildon, the sinker ball artist who doled out five hits, including Ted Williams' 31st home run to score his 18th victory.

The Red Sox came right back to win the nightcap, 6 to 5, staying off a late-inning Athletics rally to win.

The Cleveland Indians remained right behind the Red Sox, creeping to within a game of third place by defeating the last-place St. Louis Browns, 7 to 4.

Bob Lemon, after getting rocked for four runs in the first three frames, settled down to chalk up his 11th triumph.

IN THE NATIONAL League, the St. Louis Cardinals bounced back from the shock of their pennant loss to club the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 4.

The Cards, who are only two games ahead of the third place Braves, clipped Fritz Ostermueler and Al Lyons for 13 safeties including home run blasts by Whitey Kurowski and Chuck Diering.

The Pirates' husky Ralph Kiner blasted circuit clout No. 51 to go one home run ahead of Johnny Mize in the major league home run race.

Mize went hitless in the Giants' game with the Dodgers. The Brooks continued their mastery over the New Yorkers by drubbing them for the 14th time this season, 6 to 1.

In the only other game played in the National League, the Chicago Cubs erupted for seven runs in the fourth inning to overcome the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 2. Bill Nicholson hit his 25th home run.

THE NEW YORK Yankees, coasting to their world series engagement with the Dodgers, exhibited superb pitching in topping the Washington Senators twice, 2 to 0, and 3 to 1.

In the first game Allie Reynolds earned his 19th victory and stretched the consecutive scoreless inning streak to 17.

Big Frank Shea pitched the second game and gave up only two hits, one a bloop double that resulted in the only run scored against him.

Joe DiMaggio and Bill Johnson hit home runs to account for all the runs in the second game.

MARION LEADS IN STATE LEAGUE PLAYOFF SERIES

By International News Service

The Ohio State league preliminary playoff series shifted scenes today with Zanesville and Springfield continuing their rivalry in the latter city while Marion and Muncie crossed the state line into Indiana.

Marion, second during the regular season, carried a two-game lead to Muncie. The Cubs slugged out a 14-to-11 decision over the Cincinnati Reds farm last night.

Zanesville, regular season first place club, and fourth place Springfield were all square at one apiece following Springfield's 10-to-2 humbling of the Dodgers last night.

Scribe Picks Yankees To Trounce Dodgers

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—I want to do this quickly and early:

It is my opinion, that the Brooklyn Dodgers will be lucky to win one game from the New York Yankees in the World Series.

Considering that I picked the Red Sox to win four straight over the Cardinals last year, I'm sure you realize that anything I have to say about baseball is a fine display of audacity.

HOWEVER, if you will bear with me for a moment, I should like to point out that pitching is at least 90 per cent of any ball game. People like Mr. Connie Mack, and Joe McCarthy who used to manage the Yankees, and other baseball geniuses say pitching is 75 per cent.

I'm insisting that in this series, pitching will be 90 per cent, and hitting, fielding, and those other things will be negligible. I believe the Yankees will win the World Series strictly on pitching.

They are a bad ball club, but in recent weeks, they have had good pitching, with their entire staff bearing down and trying to earn a starting berth in the World Series.

I am convinced that if either team can get a couple of well-pitched games, it will be the winner. On that basis, I think the Yankees have a distinct edge.

Their pitchers have been getting better, while the Dodger pitchers have been going through the motions.

APPARENTLY, we are dismissing the Dodgers as a bunch of humpty-dumpties. That isn't the point of this piece at all. They outlasted the Cardinals, who were the odds-on favorite to win the National League pennant, and they earned their place in the World Series as a good stout ball club.

Adding one thing against another, the Dodgers generally will be given a good chance against the Yankees in a short series. But, that inevitably brings us back to the conviction that the Dodgers can't beat the Yankee pitching.

Only a few days ago, Bucky Harris, manager of the Yankees, said that his pitchers all appeared to be determined to get in the World Series. All of a sudden, they are pitching tremendous baseball.

SINCE HARRIS announced that he was undecided as to his

World Series pitchers, everybody has come to life. He has nothing but winning pitchers on this squad. Allie Reynolds has pitched two straight shutouts. Frank Shea has pitched a four-hitter and a two-hitter. Bobo Newsom still has his stuff, and Bill Bevens, a chronic loser all season, has chimed in with a brilliant three-hit effort.

So as I was saying at the outset of this wonderful piece of prophetic literature, I do not see how the Yankees can possibly lose the World Series. Of course, it is ball clubs like the Brooklyn Bums which make bums of geniuses like myself.

Actually, here is a ball club called the Dodgers which is about to appear in the World Series without a real manager. Burt Shotton took the job without a contract, without promise, and, without hope, ended up with the pennant.

But don't tell me he's going to win the World Series, too.

RHODES FILES PROTEST WITH AVIATION BOARD

Columbus Mayor Charges CAB Disregarded Public Necessity By Act

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24—Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus charged the civil aeronautics board today with disregarding "the overwhelming showing of public convenience and necessity" to be served in denying feeder line applications covering central Ohio.

In a letter to CAB chairman James A. Landis, Rhodes protested the recent decision in the Great Lakes area case which "seems to preserve the interest of a single airline against competition."

The CAB denied applications of Delta and Eastern airlines to provide general north and south service through Columbus from Detroit to Atlanta and Florida points. It also turned down requests of Trans-Ohio Airlines, Inc., and Great Lakes Airlines, Inc., for approval of schedules which would tie in most of the state with Columbus by providing local service.

THE APPLICATIONS submitted by Great Lakes and Trans-Ohio were considered most important by state aviation director C. E. A. Brown. He said that approval of the applications of two major airlines to add stops on some schedules and additional routes failed to give Ohio the service it required.

The Columbus mayor asserted that "citizens of central Ohio and the capital city, Columbus, are astonished and indignant" over the CAB's failure to grant applications of other airlines for feeder, or local, service.

Rhodes concluded: "As mayor of the city of Columbus, I protest on behalf of the citizens of central Ohio, your decision, which sets up an unprecedented policy of protecting airlines and discriminating against the public. "A reconsideration should promptly be given to provide for a reopening of the north-south trunk line segment of this case."

AQUELLA

MINERAL SURFACE COATING
STOPS LEAKAGE, SEEPAGE, DAMPNES

IT'S NEW! IT'S DIFFERENT!
IT WORKS!

Here's that amazing, waterproofer you've been waiting for! Aquella expands when applied to porous masonry—fills every microscopic pore to form a micropore seal that continues to harden with age. Imparts a glistening white, eggshell-like finish—light reflecting and beautiful "as is," or it may be painted over with any color. Will not powder, rub off, blister, peel or flake. Get Aquella for interiors; Aquella No. 2 for exteriors.

AQUELLIZE FOR WATERTIGHTNESS
Inside or outside, above or below ground. For all such porous masonry surfaces as concrete, masonry blocks, common brick, rough plaster, stucco. Directions in bag.

Makes 1 gal. First coat covers 60 to 120 sq. ft., second coat, 175 to 210 sq. ft.

RONNIE
Our little boy has been taken away. An angel took him to Heaven. He was with us such a very short time. Then God took him home. He was such a dear little boy. Almost an angel on earth. A ray of sunshine on a rainy day. That was his nature since birth. We miss his dear little curly head. The sweet, carefree things he used to do. His empty high chair, his empty bed. His vacant place at the table, too. We gaze with sadness at things that were his. At familiar worn paths that he trod. But I think one reason he took him away. Our Ronnie-boy led us to God. Joe and Dorothy Valentine and sons.

Time to Watch Your Berry Bushes

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

DISEASES and insects often make life miserable for home-grown berry bushes. Therefore, now is the time to look for symptoms of trouble among your bramble plantings in order to head off even more trouble next season.

Anthraxnose is one of the most destructive diseases of brambles. A raspberry cane infected with this disease is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Study it so that you will recognize it if it appears in your own home plantings.

It attacks the stems, leaves and fruit and often destroys the entire crop. On young shoots it first appears as small, sunken circular spots. Later these spots enlarge and become gray in color, surrounded by a reddish-purple margin. When heavily infected, the canes appear rough and warty, and the cankers may partially or entirely girdle the canes, as illustrated.

Control consists of sanitation, pruning and spraying. All badly infected canes must be pruned out and burned. Spraying is best done in the late winter

The mind is but a barren soil; a soil which is soon exhausted, and will produce no crop, or only one, unless it be continually fertilized and enriched with foreign matter.—Sir J. Reynolds.

Hints on Etiquette

On entering a restaurant or cafe, if there is a waiter to assign a table, the woman goes ahead of her escort. If there is no waiter, the man goes first and chooses a table.

Today's Horoscope

A birthday anniversary today indicates that you have an abundance of natural ability and with your mind made up, can accomplish much. You are impulsive, and your intuition is more apt to be correct than your careful reasoning. You like social life and have many enjoyable interests outside your home. This day will be good for clearing up odds and ends; also for starting anew. Do not spoil your chances of success and happiness in your next year through foolish quarrels and impulsive changes. Concentrate on business rather than romance. Courtship and marriage are best deferred. Today's child will be moderately fortunate financially, but dissension and disappointment in marriage and family life are threatened.

OSes Reports Opportunities For Work Greater In Month Of August

Job opportunities are on the increase it was stated Wednesday by the Ohio State Employment Service office in Circleville and that this condition is prevalent throughout the state.

A bulletin just received from OSes state headquarters at Columbus, it was stated, shows that job openings available through the OSes jumped nearly one-fifth from July to 54,000 in August and that the windup of an unprecedented volume of mass plant vacations, and seasonal hirings, contributed to the increase.

Jobs in canning factories helped boost the total in Circleville and Pickaway county, as well as in other areas in Ohio, while placements of several hundred jobs were reported in the manufacture of non-electrical machinery and in wholesale and retail trade.

The bulletin pointed out that placements were up in every occupational group excepting skilled workers, while jobs in professional and managerial occupations jumped over one-fourth.

The number of job seekers dropped again, according to the bulletin, the decline being one-tenth from July 31 to Aug. 31, and the total of 111,212 registered Sept. 1 included 31,782 women and 50,683 veterans.
